

ABSTRACT

A crystal structure of PIM-1 is described that was determined by X-ray crystallography. The use of PIM-1 crystals and structural information can, for example, be used for identifying molecular scaffolds and for developing ligands that bind to and modulate PIM-
5 1 and other PIM kinases.